

The FCC has better things to worry about than the National Assoc. of Broadcasters whining about what I want to listen too. Perhaps if the local stations had better variety, more quality music, less commercials and fewer stupid DJ's and discusting contests I would not need to pay 30$ a month to get it. This is the same issue as NPR, PBS, Satelite and Cable TV. We pay to get a better choice and better quality programing. If I don't find 24/7 accurate traffic and weather reports to be of use to me, I am free to change the channel. If XM Radio doesn't play the stuff I like...I can leave and go to Sirius...my choice, my dollars. It is MY deciation, not NAB's or the the FCC's. Freedom of speech, freedom of choice & freedom of association is at stake here. We need more choice ina democracy to be sure ALL are heard...not just the deep pocket folks.
